

Changing how grades display in the Moodle Gradebook

By default, the grades in a Moodle gradebook show as Real scores, but if you look closely, there is another column in the gradebook that shows a percentage off to the right side.

You can modify the default setting for how grades display in your gradebook in Moodle. This will change the way that all of the grades display in the Gradebook.

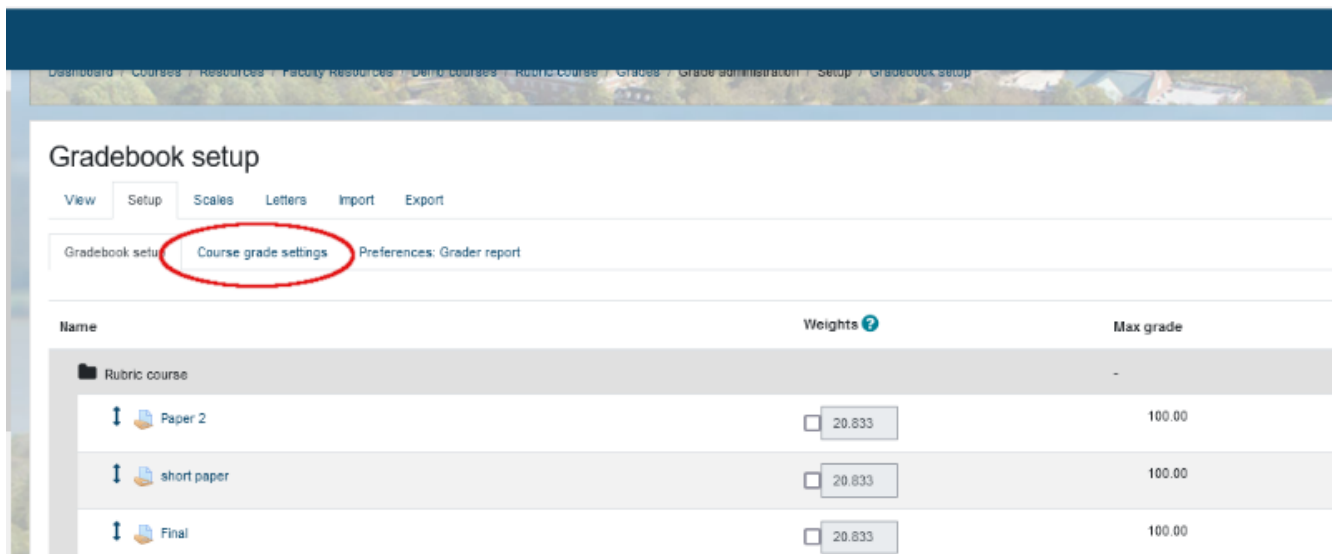

1. Go to the Grades tile and then click on the Setup tab.

The screenshot shows the Moodle Gradebook interface. The 'Setup' tab is selected and circled in red. The 'Real scores' column is highlighted in red. The table below shows the gradebook data.

2. Click on the Course Grade Settings Tab.

- Feel free to change the display settings on the fly – you aren't changing the calculations, just displaying the scores already stored in Moodle in a different way. Here, I've changed it to Percentage (Real) by just picking out that selection on the menu.

The screenshot shows the Moodle 'User report' interface. At the top right, the user 'Reiley Noe' is logged in. The navigation menu includes 'View', 'Setup', 'Scales', 'Letters', 'Import', and 'Export'. Below this, there are tabs for 'Grader report', 'Grade history', 'Outcomes report', 'Overview report', 'Single view', and 'User report'. The 'User report' tab is active, and the display format is set to 'Percentage (Real)'. The 'Select all or one user' dropdown is set to 'Joe Student', and 'View report as' is set to 'Myself'. The main table displays the following data:
